PRESS RELEASE

Bulkazoid Changes the World of Bulk Domain Name Research & Purchasing - Harness the Power of a Cool Bulk Domain Checker at BulkDomainChecker.com

Irvine, CA September , 2011– The Internet is not only a virtual space people go to find information and purchase goods; it is a competitive real estate marketplace. When everyone is using the Internet to showcase the latest and greatest thing, domain names are becoming a commodity in and of themselves. Bulkazoid allows entrepreneurs to search for available domain names and purchase them in bulk at bulkdomainchecker.com. A simple upload will allow buyers to research multiple domain names then purchase them in bulk at major registrars, including GoDaddy, Moniker, SEDO, and Dotster. Buyers will find out which domains are available and quickly.

Using Bulkazoid, bulk domain name buyers can upload domain names via a .csv or .txt file. And if you upload a .CSV from Google Adwords, crucial information about the domain, such as how much traffic the domain name receives and whether it is available for purchase displays. Registrars often offer lower prices for domain names purchased in bulk, which means more profit for the entrepreneur.

Registering domain names individually can be tedious. Checking each domain name individually takes time, and purchasing them one by one involves dealing with a shopping cart over and over again. If multiple domain names are purchased from one company, an entrepreneur can keep track of payments and renewals more easily than if the names were purchased separately and at different times.

Imagine if you had owned Google.com before the company was established. You would either be rolling in the dough right now or one of the biggest brands might not be one of the biggest brands. In other words, either you would be rich or the world would be much less knowledgeable. By owning a particular domain name, you could change the world.

Entrepreneurs who use Bulkazoid can harness one of the most important aspects of Internet business with the click of a button. They don't even need to worry about what to put on the website. Just holding the property to a highly sought-after name can put entrepreneurs at the top of their game.
